

Your next cabin crew step

Use this workbook to organise your application preparation. It is a planning aid, not an eligibility test or a hiring prediction.

My target airline and current stage

Official application or event link

Instructions I need to verify

Check the airline's current instructions yourself. Open days, registered events and invitation-only assessments have different attendance rules. Reconfirm the venue and date before travel.

Find official recruitment events at iamvero.com/open-days/

Find your real evidence

Think about work, hospitality, customer service, volunteering, study and travel. Choose experiences you can explain honestly.

A time I helped a customer or another person

A time I worked with others under pressure

A time I adapted, learned or handled a mistake

Practise an interview example

Choose one experience from the previous page. Make your responsibility and actions clear, then practise explaining it aloud in your own words.

The situation and my responsibility

What I personally did

The result and what I learned

A useful follow-up: What would you do differently now? Avoid inventing results, memorising someone else's story or claiming experience you do not have.

Make a practical plan

Pick small actions you can complete before your next application or recruitment event.

CV or application action + date

Interview practice action + date

Event and travel checks + date

My biggest question for Weronika

Ready to discuss your next step? Book a free 30-minute preparation conversation with Weronika. Bring your target airline, stage and questions.

Book at app.d50.ai/book/weronika

Independent preparation, not airline recruitment or accredited training. No airline affiliation or hiring guarantee. Workbook reviewed 1 October 2026.